

history

's a dark place, and specters emerge at each turn we can't tell whether we have seen before elders proclaim we must always insist on their way, a cowardly burlesque
the young say